

RAINNews

March 2018

Forward to friends | Visit our website

Survivor Shares His Journey of Healing Through Art

Brian Johns speaks about surviving child sexual abuse and the healing power of art.

Learn More

Following the News? Don't Forget Self Care

Self-care tips to keep in mind when watching stories about sexual violence.

Learn More

Safe Helpline Launches Online Education Programs

The new self-paced programs help loved ones support survivors.

Learn More

RAINN Announces Partnership with National Sorority

Working together, RAINN and Alpha

Chi Omega will educate students on campuses across the country.

Learn More

National Partners: RAINN & Alpha Chi Omega

Follow us online:

The Washington Post

"Particularly with a public institution like Michigan State, the public deserves to know what happened."

- Scott Berkowitz

Learn More

"It's unfortunate that the president's instinct never seems to be to side with victims. In the wake of #MeToo, more survivors are feeling empowered to speak publicly."

- Jodi Omear

Learn More

Rebecca O'Connor, RAINN's vice president for public policy, testifies to the House Judiciary Committee.

Learn More

You are receiving this email because you subscribed to RAINNNews, RAINN's monthly newsletter.

Our mailing address is:

RAINN, 1220 L St. NW, Suite 505, Washington, D.C. 20005

Forward to friends | Update preferences | Unsubscribe

Copyright © 2017. All Rights Reserved.